All Quiet After Sleeping Binge

WALLA WALLA, Wash., — All was quiet at the Walla Walla State Penitentiary last night.

It should have been. Since 400 convicts were knocking off the effects of a weekend bender on sleeping pills.

Warden John Cranor tells this story:

Inmate employees of the penitentiary's warehouse got curious Saturday when a shipment of war surplus hospital supplies arrived. They happened to open a box containing 40,000 Librium tablets.

They passed 10,000 pills around to other convicts and, as one guard put it:

"By Monday morning the whole prison population had rubber legs. A man would be walking down the sidewalk and fall flat on his face."

"We put them in wing one until there just got to be too many of them."

A shaken-down by prison guards, Cranor said, turned up most of the pills not grabbed down by the prisoner or flushed down the toilet or prior to the shaken-down.

"I honestly believe that this country needs a good federal matrimonial bureau to start an epidemic of romance and inspire older women to realize that they can't take it with them, so why let income taxes grab it?"

This year George has popped up his campaign with a theme song, which goes:

"I'd like to be some older woman's darling."

"For companionship, security, contentment."

"Are the only things a man should really crave."

So far no statement have made any serious opposition to Mr. Doyle's program for federal help for wealthy women, who need a husband but perhaps don't know it. The trouble is that no politician yet has realized what a vote get from these women.

Perhaps one reason is they are afraid to get into the explosive arena of matrimonial relations. If the government can't solve the problem of cattle corn or butter crops, how could it deal with the problem of a crop of surplus husbands?

How long would it be before the cry "parity for potential husbands as well as potatoes" went up how long before the cry of spinsters would demand government aid, too, to help tide them through.

A government — arranged wedding night or might not win a poll when votes if it turned out okay, but if it curbed it would be bound to cost him votes.

Another objection is the fact a lot of men just wouldn't undergo the registration necessary in a federal matrimonial bureau.

How would you yourself like to start a courtship wearing two big linked stamp marks on your forehead saying: "Passed by the U. S. Bureau of Standards" and "Guaranteed Prime by the U. S. Bureau of Agriculture?"

Let George do it.

Shoe Strike Called Off by Agreement

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The unions representing 18,000 employees and the International Shoe Co. have agreed on a new contract. A strike set for today was called off.

The new two-year contract, which ties wages to the government cost of living index, was announced yesterday by spokesmen for the CIO Shoe Workers Union and AFL Foot & Shoe Workers Union.

Under the agreement, the index will be checked each six months. If it goes up, the pay scale will go up an equal percentage. However, the scale will not go below its present level if the index drops.

The unions, representing workers in 70 plants in Missouri, Illinois, Arkansas, and New Hampshire, dropped demands for immediate pay raises. Hourly paid workers now average about $1.22. A company spokesman said many workers are paid on a piece rate and receive more than that.

Other contract clauses provide a union shop which requires workers to join within 90 days of their employment, three weeks' vacation after 15 years and a company paid medical and hospitalization plan. The old contracts expired at mid night Saturday.

LITTLE ROCK, AP — Mrs. Carrie Burns of Little Rock, accused of pouring scalding water over her daughter's husband, Elmer E. Sanders, 42, pleaded innocent yesterday to a first degree murder charge.

The plea was made at Pulaski Circuit Court hearing.

TV Candidate Fails to Excite Voters

By ARTHUR EVERET

NEW YORK (AP) — A new mayor of New York was being elected today, after a bitter and costly campaign that failed to excite the voters.

Gone forever apparently were the torch light parades, the thunder of massed thousands in great arenas, the intimate "I promise you" on the street corner rally.

In their place was the television candidate for mayor, theatrically made up and carefully pronounced campaign promises and charges from the remote and sterile depths of the small silver screen.

The polls are open from 6 a. m. to 7 p. m. (EST). A quick machine count should be over before mid night.

Fair and mild weather was forecast for today.

The campaign wound up last night as the three major candidates made their final bids for the city, $40,000,000 top spot in New York, the nation's second biggest political job. Mayor Vincent R. Impellitteri was beaten in the Democratic primary six weeks ago.

His successor, the city's third mayor in less than four years, will be one of these three:

Democratic — Robert F. Wagner Jr., 44, a New Dealer and son of the late Senator Wagner of the original New Deal's Labor Relations Act of 1935. Wagner, heavily favored to win, is the $25,000,000 president of the Borough of Manhattan.

Republican — Harold Riegelman, 61, a veteran elixir worker and student of municipal housing and economics, and netting postmaster for three months early this year.

Liberal — Rudolph Halley, 40, who made a national name for himself as examiner of underworld big shots for the old Kefauver Senate Crime Committee. The longest shot in the present race, he won the $25,000-a-year city council presidency in 1951 as a Liberal Party candidate. He is a registered Democrat.

Registration this year is 2,396,099 and the vote may drop below two million for the first time since 1945 — a tipoff to public apathy in the face of one of the bitterest and costliest campaigns in years. Estimates of the cost run as high as a million dollars per candidate.

Three years ago the Liberals polled only 223,093 votes in support of a Democratic candidate out of a total vote of 2,628,478.

Wagner is a heavy betting favorite. The New York Daily News straw poll — never wrong in past mayoral elections — gives him a 2-1 edge over Riegelman, with Halley a poor third.

Wagner's election would be hailed by the New Deal — "Fair Deal" wing of the Democratic Party as a brave omen for 1954 and 1955. At least two of his New Deal backers — Rep. Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. and Averell Harriman — are potential Democratic candidates for governor of New York next year.

Wagner's showing could also give the new dealers a potent grip. New York's 94 votes in the 1956 Democratic National Convention and might even determine the party's next candidate for President.

Former President Harry S. Truman and 1952 Democratic presidential candidate Adlai E. Stevenson have publicly endorsed Wagner.

President Eisenhower and Republican Gov. Thomas E. Dewey are in Riegelman's corner.

A state harness racing scandal became a campaign issue when it involved a number of GOP state bigwigs and led to disclosure that persons of prominence tried to get a parole for labor extortionist Joey Fay.

Fay, former vice president of the AFL operating engineers, is serving 7½ to 15 years in prison for a big shake-down of contractors.

Wagner interjected a "Mr. X" into the campaign, claiming that he was close to Dewey and interceded with the State Parole Board in Fay's behalf.

However, Wagner failed to name "Mr. X" or back up a claim that he is "one of the most important men in the United States — a national figure whose every word and action carry tremendous weight throughout the country."

Dewey and the state parole board denied there ever was such a figure in the Fay case.
